Practical guide to live

(There is No God but Allah)

In your daily life

Your relation with

Allah

• my relation with Allah is the bond through which I receive light - power - mercy - security - freedom - trust - reliance, hope and clarity of vision i.e it is the nourishment of my soul which give me the power to do the good deeds and to follow the right path. It also liberates me from any negative ideas so feelings as I am already preoccupied psychologically and mentally by my right belief, ideas and positive feeling

• Through my connection with Allah, I live motivated to serve my community by being a positive element for myself, my family and for all the people through fulfilling my responsibilities towards each one of them.

• all the people in this live are sources for me to reach Allah's pleasure and reward.

1- My Parents (be dutiful to your Parents)
2- My husband and my kids: The wife is a shepherd in her husband's house).

3- My relatives (and give to kinsman his due).

4- The muslims (the muslim is the brother of the muslim)

5- All the people (and have good manners with all the people.

So I respect all the people, and show them mercy as they are sources for my Lord's pleasure with me.

• I never ask anyone for any thing as they are powerless like me

The Universe

I am connected by a bond of love to all the creators of the universe e.g the moon, the sun, rain, sky, plants, animals and so on, as all arise from the creative hand of Allah whom I love, and love all His gifts to me!
